BLANKETS ARE WELCOMED BY LEE CO. BOYS

"BLANKET SPECIAL" MEETS A WARM WELCOME IN COM AT ROCKFORD.

MORE BEDDING IS NEEDED

Sweaters, Bedding, Rocking Chairs and Sewing Machine—Other Articles Secured.

Scores of Lee county boys in Co. M 342nd Inf., at Camp Grant slept under warm blankets and comforters last night, thanks to the good people of Dixon and Ashton and Messrs. Harry Warner and Frank Schoenholz of Dixon, who took them a load of bedding yesterday in response to the appeal in the Evening Telegraph on Monday evening. There is still need for more bed clothing, however, and as soon as the roads will permit automobile travel these gentlemen will take another load to Camp Grant.

When Attorney Warner and Deputy Schoenholz arrived at the Co. M Barracks in Camp Grant they were greeted with the most effusive welcome, and the boys were truly thankful for the articles they brought. If the people who sent them or furnished the money to buy them could realize the thankfulness with which they were received they would feel well repaid for their generosity.

Need Other Things. While in camp Mr. Warner found the boys needed some other articles, as well as more bed clothing. The things needed most were:

- Rocking chairs,
 - Washing machine,
 - Sewing machine,
 - Barber chair.
- The washing machine and barber chair have already been secured. E. N. Howell Hardware company, when apprised of the need of the washing machine, very generously donated one at once, and the Elks club in Dixon has donated a barber chair. The sewing machine would be more useful if it were the kind used by tailors. Efforts are being made to locate one.

From 50 to 100 more comforters are needed at once. Already a number of blankets and quilts have been brought to the Telegraph office. If you have such articles to spare bring them to this office and they will be taken direct to the boys in camp.

Rocking Chairs. The boys want some rocking chairs. 20 or more, to put in their recreation room. In response to this appeal several people have already notified the Evening Telegraph that they will donate chairs, and as soon as a load of them can be secured a truck will call for them and take them direct to Rockford. J. E. Moyer has donated the use of his furniture van for the trip. A dozen people have already notified the Telegraph that they have chairs for the soldiers.

Funds for France. Captain Kumber, in a conversation yesterday with Messrs. Schoenholz and Warner of this city, expressed his sincere appreciation of the splendid contributions that are being made to the Lee county Comfort Fund for Company M at Rockford. He stated that he deemed it advisable to conserve this fund as much as possible inasmuch as there was a possibility of the Lee county boys being called to France, and in such an event, the fund could be used to far greater advantage in that distant country than here at home, where the boys receive frequent visits from those interested in their welfare. Captain Kumber is proud of his boys, and rightfully claims they are making as good and loyal soldiers as any at camp.

Ashton Made Good. Ashton ladies yesterday sent 65 comforters to the camp in care of O. W. Griffith and Rev. Marshand and this afternoon sent 31 more, making 96 in all.

BREAD AND BUTTER WAS TREAT TO KIDS

MRS. J. W. LAUREN TELLS OF THE FOOD SHORTAGE IN SWEDEN.

The fact that the two children of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Lauren of this city, who arrived here recently with their mother from Sweden, preferred bread and butter to candy and fruit after they arrived in New York City is wonderful proof of the food conditions in Sweden. Mrs. Lauren states that in Sweden but two cups of sugar are allowed to each person in a month and it is impossible to secure butter or fats of any kind, salt, eggs, coffee, tea, bread or milk. Potatoes, vegetables and meat are more abundant, but grain is so scarce that people are killing their chickens because it has been found impossible to feed them.

NEW PLOTS OF BERNSTORF ARE BARED BY U. S.

LANSING MAKES PUBLIC TELEGRAMS INCRIMINATING KAISER'S AID.

NAMES MEN IN AMERICA

Cablegrams From "Zimmerman" Instruct Count As To His Actions Here.

(Associated Press Leased Wire) Washington, Oct. 10.—Further startling exposure of Ambassador Bernstorff's activities in the United States was given today by Sec. Lansing, who made public three telegrams which passed between the ambassador and the German foreign office.

The first telegram, sent in January of 1916, and signed "Zimmerman," said the German general staff desired "energetic action in regard to the proposed destruction of the Canadian Pacific railway at several points with a view of obstructing traffic."

The second instructed the military attaché here to obtain particulars as to persons suitable to carrying on sabotage in the U. S. and Canada and named three men: Jos. McGarrity of Philadelphia, John P. Keating of Chicago and Jeremiah O'Leary of New York as reliable.

The third telegram referred to the embargo conference in the U. S. "Is about ready to embark upon a vigorous campaign to secure a majority in both houses of congress favorable to Germany."

Sec. Lansing said the telegrams had not been sent through the state department, thus leaving the inference that they must have moved through one of the neutral governments.

CO. SUPT. MILLER FINDS COMENDABLE SPIRIT IN LEE COUNTY.

County Superintendent of Schools L. W. Miller, who has about completed his first tour of inspection of the schools of the county, reports wonderful progress has been made in meeting the requirements of the new school law regarding sanitation. In the city and village institutions is the spirit to comply with the law very noticeable and in nearly every case every detail of the statute has been met. In the rural districts, removed from labor, the progress has not been so marked, but a commendable spirit is being shown by the directors and efforts are being made almost everywhere to equip the school houses modernly.

JOHN FORREST, AGED 84 FOUND DEAD IN BED THIS MORNING

DEATH TOOK AGED CITIZEN AFTER DAY SPENT AT EASE.

FUNERAL FRIDAY AFTERNOON

John Forrest, aged 84 years, for a number of years proprietor of Dixon Cereal Mills, and one of the prominent men of the city, was found dead in bed at his home, 315 Crawford avenue, this morning by members of his family. Death probably resulted from a slight stroke of apoplexy during the night. He spent yesterday at the office of his son, J. A. Forrest, in whose plan to reopen the Cereal Mills on an enlarged scale he had taken active interest, and at the Elks club, retiring in apparently the best of health. The funeral will be held at his home Friday afternoon, the hour to be announced later, and the remains will be taken to Woodstock, Ont., for burial. Rev. A. J. Holland, pastor of the Presbyterian church, will officiate.

Mr. Forrest was born at Parish Longshire, Scotland, March 11, 1833. He came to Canada in early life. On April 6, 1853, he was married to Miss Isabel Sutherland of Oxford county, Canada, and to the union seven children were born.

For some years the deceased was engaged in the milling business in Woodstock, Ont., and about 1876 he came to Illinois and for over ten years was actively engaged in the milling business as a member of the firm of Douglas, Stewart & Forrest at Chicago. In 1883 he went to Cedar Falls, Ia., where he continued the milling business. He retired from the Dixon mills about five years ago.

He is survived by his wife, who is now ill in bed, and the following children: Mrs. John Clay of Chicago; Mrs. J. G. Stewart of Chicago; W. H. Forrest, Chicago, and Miss Margaret and John A. Forrest at home.

He was a member of the Elks club and was a most delightful Scotch gentleman, with a wonderful personality and very widely read.

U. S. To Grant Exemption Before Medical Tests In Examination Of Next Army

(Special to Telegraph) Washington, Oct. 9.—Plans for a simplification of the selective army were decided upon at a conference tonight between Secretary of War Baker and Provost Marshal General Crowder.

The plans will be fully worked out and communicated to the 4500 local boards in the country before further steps are taken to examine the 7,000,000 registrants remaining after the first levy of 687,000 was selected. Details of the changes in draft regulations to be made were not given out by Secretary Baker. The principal one is understood, however, to be the elimination of men clearly entitled to exemption before they are subjected to physical examination.

All Given Physical Tests

For instance, when the first conscript levy was made all registrants were subjected to physical examination. They were then permitted to file and prove up claims for exemption.

The result of the first call was that 3,600,000 registrants were given physical examinations.

GREAT CROWD SEES CONTEST

Polo Grounds At New York Jammed to Capacity For the Struggle.

(Associated Press Leased Wire)

Polo Grounds, New York, Oct. 10.—The New York Giants having expected, as they declare, a strategic retirement to prepared positions on Polo Grounds, found themselves today confronting the Chicago White Sox in the third game of the world's series and an early turnstile counted over 35,000 persons jammed into the vast concrete and wooden stands of the stadium, while more were coming.

A threatening morning cleared toward game time. A wintery wind scudded across the field and there was a cheer when the sun broke out and blue sky appeared.

Manager McGraw realized the handicap his men were under and had a few tart things to say to them in the clubhouse before the contest.

Manager Rowland of the White Sox said: "We'll try to make it four straight."

The early crowd of 5,000 were in line when the gates to the unreserved section were thrown open. They were entertained by a brass band. The Giants received a big hand when they came on the field, led by Jim Thorpe and George Burns.

The batteries for Chicago are Cicotte and Schalk; for New York, Benton and Raridon.

The batting order today:

Chicago: J. Collins, rf; McMullen, 3b; Eddie Collins, 2b; Jackson, lf; Felsch, cf; Gandil, 1b; Weaver, ss; Schalk, c; Cicotte, p.

New York: Burns, lf; Herzog, 2b; Kauff, cf; Zimmerman, 3b; Fletcher, ss; Robertson, rf; Holke, 1b; Raridon, c; Benton, p.

Umpires: At plate, Klem; on the bases, O'Loughlin, Rigler, Evans.

Before the players took the field they gathered around the plate and an American flag was placed in honor of Corporal Gowdy, now in the Ohio National Guard.

First Inning—

Chicago: The crowd gave a great cheer as Collins walked to the plate. Mayor Mitchell threw the first ball to Benton. John Collins fouled out to Raridon who took it near the grand stand. McMullen struck out. Eddie Collins got a single to center. Benton threw out Jackson at first.

No runs, one hit, one error.

New York: Burns struck out and Chicago fans cheered. Cicotte worked the ball around the knees. Herzog flies out to Felsch, who did not move to take the ball. John Collins dropped Kauff's high fly and the batter reached second. Zimmerman scratched an infield hit. Kauff going third. Fletcher forced Zim. McMullen to Ed die Collins.

No runs, one hit, one error.

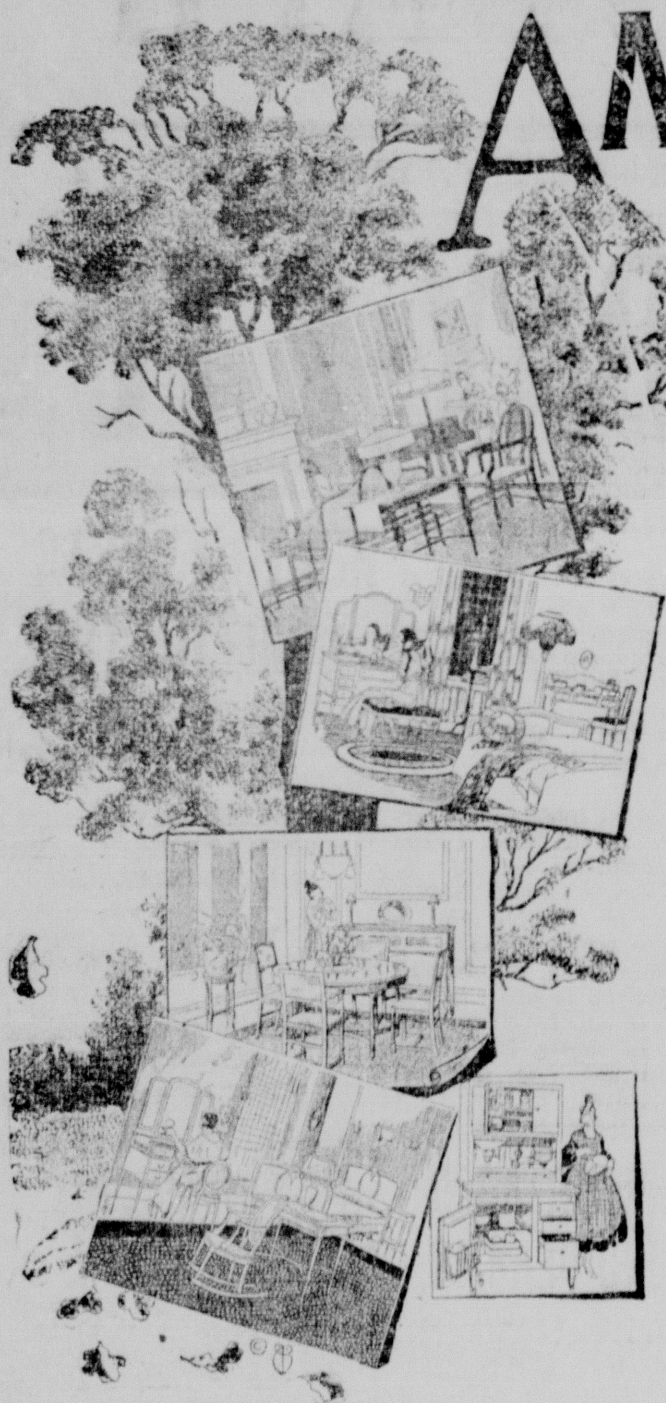

Second Inning—

Chicago: Felsch fouled to Holke. Gandil sent a high one to Holke and Weaver stung a single to short, then stole second. The ump's called him out but discovered Fletcher had drop

Officers of the Illinois Grand Lodge of Odd Fellows were here Sunday in conference with a local committee for the purpose of discussing the question of providing a clubroom for the members of the order, who are and will be stationed at Camp Grant.

A. Otis Arnold, grand master; H. M. Blood, deputy grand master; and examiners, represented the grand lodge. At the conclusion of the afternoon conference held in Winnebago lodge hall, 604 West State street, the grand officers visited the camp.

They were impressed by the aggressiveness displayed by the local Odd Fellows in going ahead with the proposition of a clubroom and assured the committee of financial aid from the Grand lodge at the annual session to be held next month in Springfield. The report that the sovereign grand lodge, in session at Louisville, Ky., a month ago, had appropriated $1,500,000 for the comfort of soldier Odd Fellows and that $60,000 would be expended in Illinois, was said to be erroneous. Grand Master Arnold, however, did say that in his opinion, the Grand lodge of Illinois would render financial assistance when it met next month.

As an example of other lodges in the state to follow, the four subordinate Odd Fellow lodges here have assessed their members 25 cents each and the four Rebekah lodges have placed a 10-cent tax on their members, to provide funds to go ahead and fit up the proposed club rooms over 120 West State street.

After looking over the situation here, the grand officers were of the opinion that a downtown clubroom would not be enough, and intimated that they would endeavor to obtain permission from the war department to erect a fraternity building within the cantonment, possibly in co-operation with the Masons and Knights of Pythias, which it is reported has been done at Camp Des Moines.

It is proposed to fit up a room in the club rooms for Rebekahs, or mothers of soldier Odd Fellows, who may visit the camp.

Lee Co. Women Accomplish Much
According to a report from the chairman of the knitting committee of the Red Cross, the women of Lee County have responded with praiseworthy enthusiasm to the demand for much knitting and although the county's quota of articles has not been entirely completed yet the number turned in has been most encouraging. Tuesday afternoon saw six boxes of knitted articles ready to be shipped to the Red Cross headquarters in Chicago. The total number, including today's shipment and articles previously shipped, amount to the comfortable sum of 424 scarfs, 320 wristlets, 193 sweaters, 119 pairs of socks, and 65 helmets. This is the entire amount of Red Cross knitting done in the county to date. Fifteen boxes in all leave the Red Cross shop today for Chicago. This includes the six boxes of knitted articles and nine boxes of surgical dressings. Isn't that a perfectly grand total, and it hasn't been so long since a shipment was sent. But the women of Lee County are not to rest on this record of excellent accomplishment, the knitting and other work is to continue unabated as every knitted article, every bandage can be put to use.

Gylleck, of this city, will entertain with various sleight of hand tricks. Apple races, a pie setting contest for prizes, and bushels of red ears of corn, and numerous other sports will enliven the evening. These husking bees are virtually county affairs and everyone attending has an evening of unstinted hilarity and enjoyment. The Keigwin family are famed for their unbounded hospitality and any one seeking a good time will make no mistake in making a visit to the H. H. Keigwin farm on Friday evening.

At Country Club
Yesterday's rain prevented the women golfers of the Dixon Country Club from playing off the qualifying match for the Women's Tournament, but if the showers keep in the background the match may be played today.

In last Thursday's playing between the men, the contest simmered down to Dr. Hamilton vs. Lloyd Davies. The match that day was between Davies and Raymond and Dr. Hamilton and Tim Sullivan. Davies, winning from Raymond with six up and four to play and Hamilton from Sullivan with one up, Hamilton and Davies will play off the 36 holes for the championship cup sometime this week.

Tomorrow the last of Freeport-Polo-Dixon Women's tournament of 3 matches will be played off at the country club. Freeport already has won two of the matches. Ten women from each of the clubs are engaged in the tilt.

W. C. T. U. Mothers' Day
The first W. C. T. U. mothers' meeting of the year was held Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Abbie Pitcher on Second street, about thirty-five mothers, some with babes, being present. Opening services were given by Mrs. Herman Missman, the local president, Mrs. Rachael Lievan and Mrs. Heckman took leading parts with bible reading and prayer. A story entitled "The Home Correspondence Course," was read by Mrs. Bessie Tabor. Miss Bertha Bennett favored the ladies with a beautiful vocal number, "That Little Mother of Mine."

The ladies had present with them as guest of honor Dr. Harriet Garrison, who gave the address of the afternoon on the subject, "Social Purty." Those who were fortunate enough to hear this scholarly address appreciated it greatly. Mrs. Will Hintz read a paper on "The True Spirit of Mothers' Day." Mrs. Robert Smith of Greer, N. Y., who is in Dixon as a guest of her nephew and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Rogers, gave an interesting talk on the value of the W. C. T. U. worker wearing her white ribbon badge, also of sending with comfort bags personal letters of good cheer. Mrs. Missman read a letter of thanks for a comfort bag received from a Texas lad in Philadelphia. It is hoped that the Mothers' Day meetings may grow to be a help and inspiration to the mothers of this city and surrounding country.

Shop Is Attractive
Mrs. R. R. Hess is making her millinery parlors today a picture in purple and taupe in preparation for her opening tomorrow when the public will have an opportunity to view the new addition to a corsetry department have been added to the millinery section and the second floor of the building she occupies has been fitted up for the two new departments. Tones of tan and brown have been used in fitting up the new rooms. The large and middle room on the second floor has been nicely fitted up as a waiting and rest room and opening from it are a corset display room, the dressing room, and the lavatory. A corset fitting room is off the corset display room. The woodwork in all these rooms has been painted white as has the stairway leading to them. The display window at the front of the store is especially attractive in its purple and taupe decorations with a basket of chrysanthemums of a pinkish taupe shade.

Grace Church Missionary
The Grace Evangelical Missionary society held a regular meeting Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Homer Senneff. The devotionals were in charge of the president, Mrs. Sindlinger, and were followed by a prayer by Mrs. J. O. Duffey. The lesson study was conducted by Mrs. C. E. Hill who was assisted by a number of the members in bringing out an interesting letter on Cuba. Mrs. J. U. Weyant read an interesting lead entitled "Shut In but Not Shut Out," which carried an interesting Mission Thought. Miss Frances Ketchin delighted with piano selection and a thanksgiving monologue was given by Mrs. Vernon Schrock, which was decidedly pointed inasmuch as the society holds its Thanksgiving meeting next month. A piano duet by the Misses Helen Zuhl and Arlene Schrock proved a delightful closing number. The social hour, with Mrs. Senneff and Mrs. Weisz dispensing delicious refreshments, followed.

ALLIED ARMIES IN JOINT DRIVE WIN 3 VILLAGES

British Smash Through German Lines for Two Miles—All Objectives Gained.

MANY PRISONERS ARE TAKEN

French Take St. Jean De Mangelare and Veldhoek and Numerous Block-houses—Advance to Depth of Over a Mile on Wide Front.

Paris, Oct. 10.—The capture of the villages of St. Jean de Mangelare and Veldhoek, with numerous blockhouses, is reported in the French official communication dealing with the operations in Flanders. The total advance of the French reached to a depth of one and one-quarter miles, to the southern outskirts of the Houtholst wood and on a front of more than a mile and one-half.

British Make Big Drive.
London, Oct. 10.—The British troops have effected the complete capture of Polderpel and have advanced nearly two miles to the northwest of that village in their drive in Flanders. According to the report from Field Marshal Haig the British operations were very successful. All objectives have been gained and the number of prisoners already exceeds 1,000.

Slight Losses for Allies.
As this dispatch is filed, headquarters dispatches report the French and British losses as light.

Several hundred prisoners have already been counted.

The new drive was made in the same region as the attack of last Thursday, one of the most successful British efforts of the war. On that day the Germans were expelled from high ground along the ridge east of Ypres, giving the British dominating positions of great strategic importance.

Allies in Joint Attack.
British and French troops struck a successful sudden joint blow against German lines in the famous Ypres sector south of the forest of Houtholst between DraiBank and Weindredt.

Official statements announced complete attainment of all first objectives.

Halted by Machine Guns.
The British also met with strong resistance at Polderhoek chateau. They reached this position early in the attack, but were forced by heavy machine gun fire to withdraw a little for the moment. At the latest report they had again made an advance.

A meager report received just as this dispatch was filed said that the Germans were counter-attacking heavily astride the Ypres-Roulers railway.

Spectacular Air Fight.
The air service is doing fine work, notwithstanding a gale of wind. Six German airplanes that ventured over the British lines at a height of 9,000 feet were engaged in battle by British airmen and a spectacular fight is proceeding.

The gunfire from both the British and French artillery was terrific at the hour of the attack and the preliminary bombardment had been intense for days. The German artillery was replying weakly this morning at most places.

French Troops Cross Rivers.
On the north the French had surged across at the Posbeck and Erenhoek rivers, in the direction of Houtholst forest, and at an early hour were reported to be fighting around Mangelare, about 1,500 yards beyond their original front lines. By 8:30 o'clock they had obtained several hundred prisoners.

ITALIAN AIRMEN RAID CATTARO

Giant Machines Rained Bombs on Austria's Naval Base at Night.

MUCH DAMAGE IS REPORTED

Destroyers and Submarines in Harbor Attacked With Good Results—Several Fires Started in Depots and Storehouses.

Washington, Oct. 10.—Giant Caproni airplanes rained bombs at night upon the great Austrian naval base at Cattaro, starting fires among the buildings in the navy yard and causing damage to Austrian ships in the harbor. The Austrians met the attack with the greatest vigor, but were unable to drive off the airplanes until nearly daylight, when the Italians withdrew to their own base without loss.

Advices received here from Rome indicate that the Italian attack was planned to forestall an Austrian naval demonstration being organized at Cattaro and Pola.

The squadron started from its base 230 kilometers (142 1/2 miles) across the Adriatic sea.

Gabriele d'Annunzio, the Italian poet, who has attained distinction as one of the most daring aviators in the war, was in command of one of the airplanes.

The squadron arrived at midnight over Cattaro, flying at 12,000 feet. The planes descended until they were only a few hundred feet over the harbor and began to drop bombs on the Austrian destroyers and submarines in the bay, many of which were seen to be hit, as fires were observed to break out immediately.

Meanwhile other Italian planes were bombing the naval depots and storehouses ashore, and several fires were observed.

Several of the Italian planes were riddled in their wings with shrapnel and machine gun bullets, but were not seriously damaged.

"CANNING THE KAISER."

(By Upton Sinclair)
Tune: "Marching Thru Georgia." Bring the good old bugle, boys, we'll sing another song. Sing it with the spirit that will move the world along. Sing it as we need to sing it, half a million strong. While we are canning the Kaiser.

Chorus—
Oh, Bill! Oh, Bill! We're on the job today!
Oh, Bill! Oh, Bill! We'll seal you so you'll stay!
We'll put you up with ginger in the good old Yankee way—
While we are canning the Kaiser.

Hear the songs we're singing on the shining roads of France;
Hear the Tommies cheering and see the Polish grance;
Africans and Kanucks, and Scots without their pants—
While we are canning the Kaiser.

Bring the guns from Bethlehem by way of old New York;
Bring the beans from Boston and don't leave out the pork;
Bring a load of soda pop and pull the grape juice cork—
While we are canning the Kaiser.

Come, you men from Dixieland, you lumberjacks from Maine;
Come, you Texas cowboys and you farmers of the plains;
From Florida to Oregon we boast the Yankee strain—
While we are canning the Kaiser.

Now we've started on the job we mean to put it through;
Ship the kings and kaisers all, and make the world anew;
Clear the way for common folks, for men like me and you—
While we are canning the Kaiser.

U. S. TO CONTROL ALL FOOD FIRMS

President Acts to Stop Hoarding and Profiteering in Staples.

UNDER LICENSE NOVEMBER 1

Twenty Articles Named for Regulation—Purpose of Food Administration Is to Protect Patriot Against Slacker in Business.

Washington, Oct. 10.—Virtually all the staple foods consumed by the American people will be put under government control November 1.

The food administration announced that within a few days President Wilson will issue an executive order requiring that manufacturers and distributors of some 20 fundamental foods operate under license restrictions designed to prevent unreasonable profits and to stop speculation and hoarding.

Regulations will be prescribed for meat packers, cold storage houses, millers, canners, elevator, grain dealers and wholesale dealers and retailers doing a business of more than $100,000 annually in the commodities to be named.

"The prime purpose of the food administration," the announcement said, "is to protect the patriot against the slacker in business."

Debt to Our Soldiers.
"It has generally been recognized that the enormous obligation imposed on the American people to feed our soldiers at the front and the allies creates a disturbing factor in trade which allows opportunity to a few to impose burdens upon the many, and that it is of vital national importance that such control should be exerted as will remedy, so far as may be, the economic disturbances incident to the war."

To Issue Proclamation.
Issuance of the president's proclamation has been delayed, the announcement said, that the food administration might complete conferences with representatives of traders and producers and consumers. Already about 200 conferences have been held, at which were planned regulations and constructive methods of control.

"It has been the desire of the food administration," the announcement continued, "to secure the co-operation of all patriotic men in the various trades to eliminate speculation, hoarding, unreasonable profits, wasteful practices, etc., in the great distribution system of the country."

Speculation Is Barred.
"The administration is, however, charged with several duties.

"The producer must have a free outlet and a ready market.
"There must be no manipulation or speculation in foods.

"There must be no hoarding in foods.
"Unfair or unreasonable profits must be eliminated.
"Discriminatory and deceptive and wasteful practices which in any way restrict supply or distribution must be stopped.

"These are the provisions of the food law. The licensing system which was authorized by the law provides a more effective machinery for its enforcement. It must not be thought that these operations become illegal only upon the issue of licenses.

"They have been illegal since the 10th of August, when the law was passed, and numerous cases coming to the attention of the food administration have been corrected.

Date Set Is November 1.

"The proclamation will require all of those handling the commodities concerned to apply for licenses before November 1, upon forms which will be supplied on application to the food administration.

"Applicants will receive licenses without cost.

"After November 1 no unlicensed persons will be permitted to trade in the commodities enumerated in the proclamation.

"While authority is vested in the food administration to suspend any license and to impose penalties for violation of the food law or special regulations, it is the purpose of the food administration to accomplish these ends of public service and war service, so far as possible, not by coercion but by patriotic co-operation."

LOYAL THEN AS NOW.

The Aurora Beacon-News prints an old war editorial, taken from the Independent of October 8, 1861, which is particularly appropriate at this time. It reads, under the caption of "What Can I Do?" as follows:

"If you are in a condition to leave home, that is, if the care of a family or an estate do not make your presence positively imperative, if you cannot serve your country better where you are than in the field—enlist. It is a duty, a privilege and an honor.

If you cannot go yourself, send your money. Show your confidence in your country and in the cause by investing your capital, so far as is consistent, in U. S. bonds or treasury notes. Every hoarded or hitherto unused dollar should be thus appropriated. You will then have, if possible, a deeper interest in the success of the federal army.

If you cannot go or send, give to the government your sympathy. Do not grumble. If you are thrown out of business, bear it. Said a man of our acquaintance living in a factory village, who has a large family to support,
"Last year my income was nearly $800; this year it will not probably exceed three. But if we cannot have wheat upon the table, we will have rye; and if we cannot have rye, we will have corn; if we cannot have corn enough, we will have half enough—only by the first of next April let the flag of the free float upon every fortress and hill-top from the St. John's to the Rio Grande."

Remember, too, General Scott is a man—McClellan is a man—Lincoln and his advisors are men. All are liable to error and fail. Over all, omnipotent, is God. Seek to know what policy would be most pleasing in the sight of Heaven—nearest right. Dare to advocate its adoption and then intercede for its success. Then our country shall be saved."

QUICK VICTORY WILL HELP FARMERS.

So many farmers' boys have joined the military, so many more may be called if the war continues, that our farmers have the keenest of blood interest in securing an early victory, reads an editorial in the Orange Judd Farmer. On the economic side, a sure market at fair prices for the produce the farmer has to sell, with reasonable prices for the commodities he has to buy, also depends upon a victorious peace.

For these personal and selfish reasons, farmers are vitally interested in the second Liberty Loan. They are ready to subscribe their share, according to their means, now that the terms of payment have been made so convenient.

Over and above all other considerations, however, is the farmer's deeply rooted patriotism. His devotion to the American flag was shown by his unlimited sacrifices in the war to preserve the union, and again in the Spanish war, and in these latter days, by the great numbers of farmers already serving in army and navy. Indeed so many young farmers have been anxious to go to the front that it is now suggested that the rest of them be required to stay at home, as food producers. Every dollar that farmers subscribe to Liberty bonds now helps by so much to win the war and to clear up labor conditions which are giving farmers so much concern. As an investment the money should be safe and yield a good return free of tax. Important as is such financial profit, it is the lease of the other and more powerful appeal that Liberty bonds make to the patriotic farmer, and to every member of his family. As one of them writes, "All that I am or have is thine.
Oh my country."

PICKING THE "GOLDEN FLEECE."

The cotton market is as touchy as a wisdom tooth with the nerve exposed.

The price soars daily on the government estimate of a shortage.
Texas raises more cotton than any other state in the Union.

At a meeting of cotton growers in Texas not long ago an elaborate set of figures was produced to prove that 44 cents is the average cost to the grower of producing a pound of cotton.

But even the farmers at the meeting couldn't go that strong, so a resolution was passed asking for a guaranteed price of only 30 cents a pound.

"Every farmer at that meeting, as well as every other farmer in the state knows" wrote M. J. Scales later in the Galveston News, "that it does not cost half of 44 cents to raise a pound of cotton."

The News comments editorially:

"Of course no one takes this, or any of many other extravagant estimates, seriously. But it is because no one does that they are harmful, for they bring down a blighting prejudice on claims which may be justly made in the interest of agriculture.

"The sufficient answer to all such preposterous statements is, granting that they are entitled to serious recognition, that the farmer who cannot grow cotton at a less cost is misapplying his energies and his opportunities.
He in reality proclaims that he is not entitled to a place in the business of cotton production."

GOOD BUT DANGEROUS.

Members of the American Association of Progressive Medicine, meeting in Chicago, have recommended that legislation be adopted by the various states providing for legalizing the administration of an easy death to human monstrosities, the hopelessly incurable and in all cases where an agonizing death impends. Such legislation, while it might prove a boon to those whom it aims to protect, should be surrounded by the most carefully formed safeguards.

Whenever a German cabinet member refuses to be interrogated by the reichstag, he declared himself responsible only to the kaiser, and the kaiser says he is responsible only to God, so where does the much talked of German democracy come in?

Germany is beaten right now, and the sooner she realizes it the sooner will her chastisement cease. The German war lords know it, if they have the brains of a gnat. If the German people knew it as well, the war would be over.

Navy's Program Calls for Chas-

Daniels Says Some of the Vessels
Have Been Completed and Are Now in Service.

Washington, Oct. 10.—The American navy's war construction program consists of 787 vessels, including all types from super-dreadnaughts to submarine chasers.

In making this announcement Secretary Daniels said some of the vessels have been completed within the last few weeks, and are now in service, and that the remainder of the program is being rushed. The total cost is estimated at $1,150,000,000.

Many of the vessels are destroyers, and arrangements have been made for carrying out the $350,000,000 supplemental destroyer program, which the navy expects to be completed in 18 months.

WRONG MAN IN JAIL 9 MONTHS

New York Police Release Victim—
Health and Money Gone.

New York, Oct. 10.—A case of mistaken identity that cost its victim $50-000 and shattered his health in a nine months' fight to set himself right was brought to light here when, at the request of the district attorney an indictment charging forgery against Alexander P. Macauley, a wealthy mining engineer of Toronto, Ont., was ordered dismissed by the court. It was brought out that Macauley had been erroneously arrested in St. Louis, December 30, 1916, in the belief that he was "Christmas" Keough, known to the police as an alleged forger of travelers' checks.

St. Louis, Oct. 10.—Alexander P.
Macauley, mining broker of Toronto, Ont., who was cleared in New York on charges of passing forged checks, was arrested here January 3 last after one of the famous "Christmas" Keough checks had been passed in a local department store and an attempt made to pass another in a second store.

He was arrested at an exclusive hotel where he was stopping with his family. He asserted his innocence throughout the entire time he was here. He furnished $10,000 cash bail and immediately began plans for establishing his innocence.

He was identified by employees of the store on which the forged check was passed as the man who presented the check.

Federal Food Administration Body
Will Fix Margin of Profits for Retailers—Premiums to Be Barred.

Chicago, Oct. 10.—Plans have been perfected by Harry A. Wheeler, food administrator for this district, by which the housewives of Chicago and vicinity are to be informed every day just what the price of staple articles of food, such as potatoes, flour and sugar, should be. These figures will be given out as a safeguard against overcharging.

The price on staples is to be fixed by a committee of three, representing the federal food administration, the wholesale grocers and the retailers.
Then the margin of profit of the retailers will be added and purchasers will know exactly what should be paid.
The announcements will be made through newspapers.

The retailers appointed an executive committee about a month ago, after a general plan had been decided upon.
This committee at its meeting in Mr.
Wheeler's office yesterday reached an agreement on the margin of profit which the retailers are to receive on potatoes, flour and sugar. The resolutions they adopted are to go to the retailers, who are to meet as soon as Mr. Wheeler issues the call for a session.

The committee condemned the practice of offering a commodity at a low price which can be obtained only by taking certain quantities of other merchandise. Giving of premiums also is to be abandoned.

One delivery a day from the grocer is to be the rule, as the recommendation of the state council of defense to that effect was adopted.

Hoarding is to be prevented by placing "reasonable limits" on purchases which a customer is to be permitted to make.

A maximum margin of profit of $1 a barrel is recommended on certain brands of flour.

On sales of flour less than one eighth of a barrel the margin is to be a maximum of 1 cent a pound and a maximum of one-half cent.

The maximum margin on sugar is to be three-fourths of a cent a pound and the minimum is to be not less than cost.

When potatoes are retailed in less than sack lots a profit of 20 per cent is to be allowed, this being an estimate of the cost of doing business.

Mrs. John Flint Dille of Chicago is

From there Mrs. Dille will come to

PERU PAPER GIVES DETAILS OF DIXON'S VICTORY OVER LA SALLE-PERU TOWNSHIP SATURDAY

The Peru Herald has the following story of Saturday's game between La Salle-Peru township and Dixon high school football teams:

Inability to stop Dixon's shifty attack and apparent lack of experience on the part of several of Fellows' men gave Dixon a 15-7 victory over L-P in the opening game of the season at the Recreation Field Saturday. Fellows' men looked far better on offense than defense, in fact as an offensive aggregation the Olive and Drab proved a ground gaining machine.

Capt. Dierks, one of the few veterans on this year's squad, was the real factor in the L-P defense though Koslowski also looked good.

Dixon's Attack Shifty. Dixon played a shifty game and called their tackles and guards back on almost every play. This seemed to perplex the unseasoned men in the L-P defensive line and as a result many long gains went off tackles and ends. The L-P tackling was not too good.

L-P used a few trick formations or plays, resorting to straight football.

How the Game Progressed

The battle was on when Dierks kicked off to Dixon. On the fourth down Dixon punted and Fritz returned the ball 20 yards. Cohen hit the line for five yards. Duncan was held. Cohen managed to make another yard and Fritz punted 30 yards.

Dixon then started a series of short tackle bucks from a line shift and a short time had brought the ball from their own 20 to within L-P's 20 yard line. Fellows' men held and Hess of Dixon placed a pretty drop kick from the 25 yard line.

Whitcombe kicked to L-P and Fritz was downed on the 40 yard line.

The quarter ended with the count, Dixon 3, L-P 0.

Second Quarter Honors Even.

Opening the second quarter Cohen made 2 yards and Fritz added 6 more. Fritz punted 40 yards and then Dixon began a march that threatened a touchdown. On the second play the visitors skirted on end for 20 yards and used a series of line bucks for their steady advance. Finally Dixon was checked and the ball went to L-P. Cohen made a pretty 20 yard run and Koslowski added 9 more a minute soon punted. After Dixon had been intercepted a forward held for a 5 yard loss a forward pass was punted. After L-P attempts gave them 35 yards. The quarter to advance failed Dixon intercepted a backs went around an L-P end for 15 forward pass and skirted left end for yards. Another series of short bucks a gain. The L-P defense appeared no took the ball to L-P's 2 yard line and noticeably weak at this point, but the Schrock failed to carry it over, Dixon half terminated with the count still 3-0.

The Third Quarter.

Fellows and his squad held a conference on strategy between halves and the third quarter opened with Dixon kicking 35 yards to LaFlamme who returned it 20 yards before being downed. Cohen then made 4, 1 and 11 yard gains in straight buck and Duncan gained 8 more. Finkler gathered in a 30 yard pass and Fritz and Duncan added short gains on bucks. Cohen took the ball into Dixon's 10 yard line and LaFlamme called a fake buck that went piling thru the line while he skirted the left end for a touchdown. Wargin punted out and Dierks kicked goal.

Dierks kicked 40 yards and after returning the ball 20 Dixon made 26 on a forward pass and added 8 on bucks. Dixon was penalized 10 yards and punted.

L-P lost the ball on downs and Dixon made a pass and netted 40 yards. Cohen brought the runner down on the 1 yard line, but on the next down Schuler went over. The try at goal failed.

L-P received in the kick off and

SHEEP'S CLOTHING

He could have made no suggestion more shrewdly calculated. In a breath Lydia's countenance lightened and her eyes grew animated.

"Oh, if I may!"

"Why not? You'll be perfectly safe. It's no great distance, nobody knows you have the collar, and Betty'll be glad to see you. You might stop with her till I call for you—if you don't mind being made an excuse of."

"Yes," she agreed, breathless. "I'll be glad."

"Then jump into your hat and coat and—half a minute! I wonder how you mind running another errand for me?"

"Of course not."

"It's only a few blocks out of your way, and won't delay you longer than to deliver a note and get an answer. I'll write the note now—two lines will do."

"I'll hurry," Lydia promised, dashing off into her bedroom.

When she returned, ready for the street, Craven was folding down the flap of an envelope blank save for the figures in ink. "98." "I'm suppressing the address," he said, smiling mysteriously. "because this is official business. That, however, is the number of the house; the street you'll have to carry in your memory. East Seventy-sixth also the name, Mrs. Ellsworth, one of our most valued agents. Hand this to her personally, and ask for an answer. I'll join you at Betty's about eleven-thirty; earlier if possible. Now the Margrave—but every chauffeur in the town knows where that is."

"Anyway," Lydia returned, "I've the address in my pocketbook. Mrs. Beggarstaff is stopping there too, you know, and I'm to lunch with her Monday."

"To be sure!" Craven opened his arms and stepped toward her. "My dear, dear girl, you don't know what a help you are to me!"

Lydia didn't move or speak; but her direct and searching gaze proved disconcerting. With arms almost about her, Craven hesitated, his look at once abashed and aggrieved. "My dear Liddy!" he expostulated.

The girl sighed and shook her head. "I'm sorry, father. No, please don't say anything more. I'm glad to be of service; and perhaps, in the course of time, I shall understand you better. But tonight—" She made a helpless gesture, in unfeigned sadness. "There are too many misunderstandings between us, and I don't seem able to think clearly enough to reconcile them tonight. Tomorrow, I hope—"

She was at the door before Craven found a reply. "At your pleasure, my lady!" he laughed, not pleasantly. "I confess it's a new thought to me, that a man in my position may have no secrets from his child."

"Please don't say any more tonight," Lydia begged, with her hand on the knob.

"Oh, very well!" he returned with a shrug and grimace of strained patience. "But—half a minute!"

Opening the door for her, he followed out into the hall, where a stolid bellboy was waiting for his answer to the knave of clubs. To him Craven presented a piece of silver.

"See my daughter down to the ladies' entrance," he said. "The Forty-sixth street elevator, you understand—and after that send up the gentleman who brought that note, by the Broadway elevator."

"Yes, sir," the youth mumbled adoringly to his tip.

Craven stood watching the figures of Lydia and the bellboy diminish down the perspective of the long corridor, until they turned a corner.

CHAPTER XIII.

The taxicab chose the northwest corner of Fifty-sixth street as the most inconvenient spot attainable to blow out a rear shoe. But Lydia had drawn luckily in New York's gigantic lottery of chauffeurs. This man knew his business. Before the girl had recovered from the shock of the tire explosion and the subsequent shaking up he had brought his machine to a standstill, jumped down, and was communing with himself in terms of confidential profanity concerning the ruined tire.

Then, opening the door, he announced that this was the last stop. "Sorry," he said, "but I got no spare tire, and if I had I'd need half an hour to make the change. Now I'll have to wait for the repair car."

A prey to vague mistrust, Lydia got out. Southward the avenue lay black and lonely save for the lurching lights of an ungainly bus groping over the wet asphalt; to the north the plaza was like a well in the air, shot through and through with glimmering light.

"I don't know what to do," Lydia ventured in her distress. "I'm a stranger in New York—" With a pang she realized how fatal such an admission might prove.

But her chauffeur was a prosaic soul, who had never chartered his car to a gang, and recked little of the terrors of New York for the overseas immigrant.

"The clock says a dollar twenty," he responded, with a disgusted jerk restoring the "flag" to perpendicular.

"Oh!" said Lydia brightly, after a black moment; and found her purse. "Please tell me the way to the nearest cab rank."

"Cab rank" was a term not in the chauffeur's vocabulary; but he grasped manfully with its occult significance. "You mean stand," he explained, not unkindly. "If you don't mind walking a couple of blocks, I'll take you to the Margrave. That's about the nearest, and anyway I got to telephone for the repair car."

"Thank you," said Lydia timidly—gratitude leaping in her heart to that kind destiny which had ordered this accident in just this spot. The Margrave!

Lydia marched resolutely into the hotel. She would be delayed not five minutes longer than if she was to engage another cab immediately. Let Craven object if he cared to, when informed! She had every reasonable excuse for desiring to rid herself of her responsibility as quickly as possible and wash her hands of the whole matter; she never wanted to see the collar again.

It was evidently defective hearing alone that caused the desk clerk to require a repetition of the name.

"Mrs. Merrilees."

The clerk retired to consult the room rack, and presently returned with the official smile, impersonally apologetic. "I thought possibly Mrs. Merrilees had arrived during the day—"

"Yes," Lydia affirmed, "she did—this afternoon, I believe."

The smile became even more remotely regretful. "I'm sorry, but Mrs. Merrilees is not among our guests."

Some instants later Lydia became conscious that she was staring, to the pained embarrassment of the young man. Hastily averting her gaze, she remarked the clock, and mechanically noted the hour: it was a quarter to eleven.

"I'm Sorry, but Mrs. Merrilees is Not Among Our Guests."

"Are you sure?" she faltered.

"Oh, quite."

But Craven had promised to meet her there, had given her the necklace to deliver to Betty at the Margrave. Impossible that he could be mistaken as to his fiancée's hotel, he who had been flying round all afternoon, "getting Betty settled"—his very words!

Insensibly Lydia's eyes darkened and became informed with an expression that had suited better the eyes of one by right of years more injured to mental anguish.

"But surely this is the Margrave!"

"Yes it is, Mrs. Merrilees may be at the Plaza, or the Savoy, or the Netherlands, even the St. Regis—not quite so near. If you care to sit down a moment, I'll inquire by telephone."

"You're very kind," said Lydia; "but I fancy I won't have to trouble you. Mrs. Beggarstaff will know. I hope I'm not mistaken in believing that she is stopping here?"

The smile of the young man passed the bounds of strict decorum, as from a desk clerk to one of the public. He was enchanted to be able to answer reassuringly.

"It was good of you to come over so late, dear—to please an old woman!" With this the Dowager Dragon took Betty Merrilees into her arms and kissed her on both cheeks.

"Truth to tell, for the fun of it," said Mrs. Merrilees. "I was glad of an excuse to stay up. I'm possessed of a devil tonight. If I wasn't at heart a respectable widow woman, I'd cut loose and misbehave scandalous. For two cents I'd head a mob to burn the customhouse and lynch that man Loeb."

Divested of her wraps, she sailed tempestuously into the drawing room of the Beggarstaff suite—where Peter Traft uprose from comfort in a wing chair and bowed politely.

"No wonder they call him 'Loeb the poor Indian!'" he commented. "Though I believe the poor man would be happy if he could get just one long, lingering slant at you as you look tonight. Rip-pi!"

"I feel like rip-pi! something or somebody, Peter," Betty declared with a brief, metallic laugh. Then she deigned to notice the other man present. "Oh, you, is it, Mr. Quoin? Hardly expected to find you here."

"Deep regrets!" the detective replied cheerfully—and for that was shown a cold if adorable shoulder.

"Oh, come now, Betty!" Peter protested. "Don't cut up rough with Quoin. Angels could do no more than he has done today."

"He still has a sneaking suspicion that I really did smuggle that necklace. Do you believe it too?"

"Don't ask me! I might tell you."

"And you?" Mrs. Merrilees demanded hotly of the Dowager Dragon.

"I don't think you above anything I'd stoop to—if you want the truth, my dear, I myself wasted several hours today trying to make the customs look foolish—and how shall I say it, Peter?"

"Didn't get away with it."

"Much as I disapprove of slang—thank you, Peter."

"So all three of you are against me!" Mrs. Merrilees lounged more deeply in her chair, swept their faces with insolent eyes, and laughed unpleasantly. "Well, I've been spoiling for a row all day, and now I'm going to have one or know the reason why."

"Make your mind easy about that," Peter advised gravely. "As a tidy young disturber of the peace, Betty, you show class."

"Shut up, Peter!" Again her glance challenged the three. "What's up?" she demanded in sudden suspicion.

"You didn't call me over here now just to tell me you believe me capable of smuggling that collar—you know you didn't!"

"No, my dear," Mrs. Beggarstaff replied; "but we did want to talk with you about it."

"Well?"

"It's this way, Mrs. Merrilees," Quoin volunteered: "We're all your friends, and all my interest in this matter is purely unprofessional as far as you are personally involved."

Mrs. Merrilees nodded brusquely, but focused an interested regard on the face of the detective. "Proceed," she said sweetly.

"We'd like to have your personal word of honor that you didn't turn this trick."

Betty laughed, staccato. "But if I say I did?"

Quoin shrugged. "That would end my interest."

"And if it turns out I didn't—eh?"

"Then I may be able to tell you something to your advantage."

Betty sat up sharply. "You mean you know where my necklace is?"

"Did you smuggle it?" Quoin counter-questioned.

A note of unimpeachable candor informed the woman's voice. "I give you my word of honor I did not. I know nothing about it. Beyond the fact that I myself placed a genuine necklace in that case, and saw a paste necklace come out of it—"

Stop That Poison!

The tortures of lockjaw may result from that cut. Blood poisoning will often set in unless treatment is started at once. When accidents occur think first of Hamlin's Wizard Oil. The doctor may be far away or his services unobtainable. The prompt application of a powerful antiseptic such as Wizard Oil will often prevent much pain and suffering, to say nothing of serious results threw out McMullen. E. Collins beat out a hit on the right foul line. At this point the crowd thinking Collins was out, surged onto the field. Game was called until the field was cleared.

Fletcher took Jackson's high fly.
No runs, one hit, no errors.
